INTRODUCTION

This edition presents, for the first time, ‘Englished’ versions of Pomponio Nenna’s seventh book of madrigals as found in a manuscript copied by the English composer and copyist George Jeffreys. The music – madrigals transformed into quasi-sacred/devotional pieces – represents a late example of the English tradition, dating back to Nicholas Yonge’s Musica Transalpina (1588), of transforming Italian madrigals into English-texted pieces.¹

THE COMPOSER

Pomponio Nenna (bap. 1556–before 1618) was born in Bari and was the son of Giovanni Battista Nenna (1508–after 1565) who was a city official and author of a treatise on nobility.² At the coronation of Emperor Charles V at Bologna in 1530, the elder Nenna was given the Order of the Golden Spur and with it the hereditary title ‘Cavaliere di Cesare’; Pomponio Nenna used this designation on the title pages of his publications, and, being a gentleman, did not hold musical appointments. Nenna was probably taught by Stefano Felis (c.1550–1603) and other local musicians while in Bari, and by c.1594 he was in the service of Prince Carlo Gesualdo (1566–1613) in Naples where he remained until 1599. (It is an interesting fact that Nenna’s first book of five-voice madrigals (1582) is dedicated to Fabrizio Carafa, Duke of Andria who together with his lover, Gesualdo’s wife Maria d’Avalos, was murdered by the composer-prince in 1590.) It seems that Gesualdo was an influence on Nenna – although Nenna’s mannerist madrigal style is not as extreme as that of Gesualdo. Nenna published eight books of five-voice madrigals (i: 1582; books ii and iii are lost; iv: 2/1608 [first edition lost]; v: 1603; vi: 1607; vii: 1608; viii: 1618 [posthumous]), a book of four-voice madrigals (1613), and two books of Responsories (for Christmas and Holy Week, 1607 and 1622 [posthumous]), most of which were printed in Naples or Venice. After service at Gesualdo’s court, it seems that Nenna moved to Rome where his eighth and last book of five-voice madrigals was published posthumously by Ferdinando Archilei (who was probably the son of the singing virtuoso Vittoria Archilei (fl. 1582–1620)).

Nenna’s madrigals proved so popular that, from 1609, the Venetian publishing house of Gardano began to reprint his madrigals books; the sixth and seventh books were particularly admired and were re-issued four times. Nenna’s late madrigals are generally less chromatic and dissonant, and include quicker text declamation, than those of his earlier books; they also often include two themes in counterpoint with different texts in a single point – a characteristic of Roman madrigals.

1015, a manuscript probably copied between c.1638 and 1646 by the English composer and copyist George Jeffreys (c.1610–1685). The pieces, entitled ‘Pomponio Nenna lib: 7.^o with English words’, were copied into score on large sheets of manuscript paper (300 x 400 mm); the pages are not folded into gatherings and the ten rastrum-ruled staves on the left and right of each folio have been joined by hand in the middle to enable the scribe to copy stratigraphically across the whole width of the paper.³ George Jeffreys’ copy source was very likely to be the fourth edition of 1628, and the very copy that Jeffreys used is probably that in the library of Christ Church, Oxford (Mus. 908–12, item 18) which seems once to have belonged to Christopher, First Baron Hatton (1605–70), George Jeffreys’ patron.⁴ Jeffreys copied, and ‘Englished’, all of Nenna’s book 7 madrigals except for ‘Scherzava Amor e Clori’ and ‘Ove stavi tu avvolto’ (original nos. 14 and 18);⁵ the pieces were copied in the order of the printed collection except for ‘Suggetemi suggete’, originally no. 17, which appears in Jeffreys’ manuscript as no. 7.

The copyist, George Jeffreys, was connected for much of his life with the Hatton family, a Northamptonshire noble family. No information is available concerning Jeffreys’ life before 1631 when, in Cambridge, he set ‘songs for some comedyes’ by Richard Hatton, a cousin of Christopher Hatton III who was to become Jeffreys’ patron. This relationship can be traced in the correspondence that exists, preserved in either the Northamptonshire Archives or the British Library, between Jeffreys and various members of the Hatton family until the 1680s. Despite the fact that Jeffreys was employed by the Hatton family primarily as a secretary/steward and not as a musician, he maintained a passionate interest in music throughout his life, and music manuscripts in his hand survive from the 1630s through to the 1680s. His copies of Italian music also show his fascination with the most up-to-date compositional styles and his own works show an assimilation of these techniques and a willingness to experiment still further.⁶

It is not known who wrote the English texts. Jeffreys himself may have created them, but the fact that they are not translations as such, but rather transformations of the Italian poetry into quasi-sacred/devotional texts (Tirsi and Clori become Jesus and Peter in no. 8!) may suggest that they were done by one of Christopher Hatton’s religious coterie. One possible candidate is the poet and Royalist divine Peter Hausted (c.1605–1644) who was closely connected with the Hatton family, and therefore with George Jeffreys, in the 1630s and 1640s.⁷ Jeffreys' scoring up of the Nenna madrigals – presumably done directly from the printed partbooks – is accurate and not uncritical (he was prepared to correct errors in the printed partbooks where necessary; see, e.g., no. 3, Bass b. 19 last note, and no. 16 Cantus b. 23 2nd note).⁸ Jeffreys copied the notes first and added the texts afterwards; as he didn't leave enough space for the words, the syllables are not underlaid beneath the specific notes to which they are sung (this is a common practice across most of Jeffreys' manuscript copies). Jeffreys very rarely had to change the rhythms of the printed versions to fit the English text; this edition gives the original Italian text in square brackets below the English text, and the occasional use of small notes in the edition make it clear where Jeffreys found it necessary to alter the original.

EDITORIAL NOTES

PREFATORY STAVES

Original clefs, ‘key’-signatures and time-signatures are given on the prefatory staves, together with the first note of each part. The vocal ranges are given at the beginning of the first bar.

NOTE-VALUES AND BARRING

Original note-values are retained throughout with the exception of final notes which have, on occasion, been tacitly regularized in accordance with the prevailing barring. Barlines basically follow the primary source but are regularized as necessary.

ACCIDENTALS

Sharps and flats used originally as naturals are modernized (i.e., replaced by naturals). Accidentals added editorially are printed in small type, including those necessitated by cancellations within the bar, cautionary accidentals, and those suggested by musica ficta considerations. (The context will make it clear to which of these categories any one editorial accidental belongs.) Editorial accidentals are effective to the end of the bar in which they occur, and source accidentals are regarded as applying also to immediate repetitions. Original accidentals that are redundant in a modern barred edition have been omitted without comment.

OTHER NOTATIONAL FEATURES

Beaming has been modernized and regularized throughout. Ties and slurs are original, and any editorial additions are indicated by dashes.

TEXTS

Orthography follows the primary sources excepting the modernizing of i as j and v as u, as appropriate, and abbreviations are tacitly spelled out. Capitalization and punctuation are, however, regularized. Where the text is inconsistent between parts or sections of a piece, the edition follows the most predominant reading. Italic text is used where the sources have iterum marks indicating repetition, and square brackets are used to indicate that the text has been added editorially.

PERFORMANCE NOTES

The songs/madrigals in this collection were most likely sung with one voice to a part, and, in that they were probably performed by experienced professional singers, the performers would undoubtedly have added appropriate ornamentation such as the trillo (repeated throat articulations on a single note), gruppo (the equivalent of the modern neighbouring-note trill) and other passaggi (scales and figures).⁹ The singers who performed this music were virtuosi who probably sang in a far lighter and more flexible way than operatically trained singers today.¹⁰ In domestic chamber situations women or perhaps boys would have taken the Cantus and, possibly, Alto parts. However, the tessitura of the Alto parts also make it possible that they were performed by high tenors.

Eleven of the songs/madrigals (nos. 1–8 and 15–17) are notated in a clef combination known today as chiavette or ‘high clefs’ with the Cantus part utilizing the G2 clef and the Bass voice the F3 clef, rather than the usual clefs of C1 and F4. This, to singers of the early seventeenth century, indicated a downward transposition (regardless of the absolute pitch standard) of a fifth if there is no ‘key’ signature, and a fourth if there is a flat indicated; by the mid-century Italian commentators only mention a transposition down a fourth.¹¹ Thus in this edition the chiavette pieces are transposed down accordingly. The downward transposition of a fifth for pieces nos. 4, 6 and 8 brings about a low tessitura for the bass voice (requiring low D); therefore, for pragmatic reasons, this edition also includes the pieces in a transposition down a fourth.

A musical score for four voices (SATB) featuring four staves of music with lyrics in English and Latin. The music is in common time, with a key signature of one sharp. The lyrics describe Jesus' suffering and the singer's desire for salvation.

The score consists of four staves of music:

- Staff 1 (Soprano): Starts with a treble clef. The lyrics include "with thornes sweet Je-su wound-ing the un-grate - full, whose sins to thee are che ru - bi - no gl'a-man - ti che l'in - gra - to, An - ch'e di fur - to e".
- Staff 2 (Alto): Starts with a treble clef and a '8' below it. The lyrics include "thornes sweet Je-su wound - ing the un - grate - full, whose sins to ru - bi - no gl'a - man - ti che l'in - gra - to, An - ch'e di".
- Staff 3 (Tenor): Starts with a treble clef and a '8' below it. The lyrics include "wound - ing, with thornes sweet Je-su sound - ing the un - grate - full, whose sins to - man - ti, che ru - bi - no gl'a-man - ti che l'in - gra - to, An - ch'e di".
- Bass Staff: Starts with a bass clef. The lyrics include "wound - ing the un - grate - full, - man - ti che l'in - gra - to, -".

The music concludes with a final staff in bass clef, ending on a note.

25

The musical score consists of five staves of music. The top three staves are in treble clef, the fourth staff is in bass clef, and the bottom staff is also in bass clef. The lyrics are written below each staff, corresponding to the musical notes. The lyrics are in English and Chinese, with some words underlined or repeated to indicate performance style. The music includes various note values (quarter, eighth, sixteenth) and rests. Measure numbers 1 through 8 are indicated on the left side of the staves.

29

A musical score for voice and piano, featuring four staves of music with lyrics in English and Italian. The score consists of four systems of music, each starting with a treble clef and a key signature of one sharp (F#). The vocal parts are in common time, while the piano part is in 6/8 time.

System 1:

- Voice 1 (Treble): Starts with a melodic line consisting of eighth and sixteenth notes. The lyrics are: "inge be-hold your Lord in sad - nesse, te e ve - de - t'un cor mo - ri - re," with some notes tied over from the previous measure.
- Voice 2 (Treble): Enters with a rhythmic pattern of eighth and sixteenth notes. The lyrics are: "should laugh - inge be-hold your Lord in sad - nesse, ri - de - te e ve - de - t'un cor mo - ri - re," with some notes tied over from the previous measure.
- Piano: Provides harmonic support with eighth-note chords.

System 2:

- Voice 1 (Treble): Continues with a melodic line. The lyrics are: "you should laugh - Voi ri - de -"
- Voice 2 (Treble): Continues with a melodic line. The lyrics are: "you should voi ri - -"
- Piano: Provides harmonic support with eighth-note chords.

A musical score for a vocal piece titled "Laughing Song". The score consists of four staves. The top staff is soprano, the second is alto, the third is tenor, and the bottom is bass. The lyrics are as follows:

- nesse, O what un-heard of mad - nes,
- re, Ah do - veu - dis - si di - re, you should laugh - Voi ri - de -

The second staff continues the lyrics:

- nesse, O what un-heard of mad - nes,
- re, Ah do - veu - dis - si di - re, you
Voi

The third staff continues the lyrics:

- nesse, O what un-heard of mad - nes,
- re, Ah do - veu - dis - si di - re,

The fourth staff concludes the lyrics:

O what un-heard of mad - nes, you should laugh -
Ah do - veu - dis - si di - re, Voi ri - de -

The bass staff at the bottom provides harmonic support.

The musical score consists of four staves of music, each with a treble clef and a key signature of one sharp (F#). The lyrics are written below the staves, divided by vertical bar lines corresponding to the musical measures. The lyrics alternate between English and Italian, with some words underlined to indicate stress or rhyme.

A musical score for voice and piano, featuring four staves of music with lyrics. The score consists of four systems of music, each with a treble clef and a bass clef. The lyrics are written below the notes, corresponding to the vocal line. The music includes various note values such as eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. The lyrics describe a scene of a woman in a garden, with words like "shee", "l'al", "liv-ing", "dy", "tra nel", "vol", "ed", "to", and "when". The score is set against a background of a garden with trees and flowers.

TEXTUAL COMMENTARY

The following abbreviations are used in the Textual Commentary:

PART NAMES	C	Cantus
	CII	Cantus II (etc.)
	A	Alto
	T	Tenor
	Bar	Baritone
	B	Bass
CLEFS	c2/c3/c4	C clef
NOTE VALUES	b	breve
	s	semibreve
	s-rest	semibreve rest (etc.)
	m	minim
	m.	dotted minim (etc.)
	c	crotchet
	q	quaver
	sq	semitaucher
PITCH	Pitch names are given in the Helmholtz system: C–B, c–b, c'–b', c"–b" (c' = middle C).
	#, b: if functioning as a natural, are shown in the Commentary as †.
OTHERS	k-s	'key'-signature
	o	no accidental(s) in source
	om	omitted
	t	tie(d)
SYSTEM OF REFERENCE	References take the form: bar number, number of symbol (note or rest) within the bar indicated as a superscript arabic numeral (a note tied across from the previous bar counts as ¹ in the new bar), the part name (and if necessary the feature which is signalled), the error or variant in the source(s) indicated. Thus:
	13 ² C: o would indicate that the accidental is omitted on the second symbol of bar 13 of the Cantus part in the source(s) indicated; and 5 ¹⁻² B: ca cg# would indicate that the first two symbols of the fifth bar of the Bass part are a crotchet 'tenor' A and a crotchet 'tenor' G-sharp in the source(s) indicated.
